

This is how it works.

A LineTec uses a patented lens system to take the light from one high performance LED and create a homogenous strip of light. Thus, the following traffic can much better estimate the distance to the cyclist - an enormous safety gain. B On the other hand, the distance to the single light spot of a conventional rear light cannot be estimated. (---> = stray light losses)

The way a car driver sees bicycle rear lights.

